

1. Nothing, nothing, nothing, _____ the live instructor in the classroom. Distance learning is second best.
2. Students never learn from the technology of distance learning. Technology is the _____, Teachers and their messages are the _____.
3. Students learn as well and as much from _____ courses, in real and delayed time, as from traditional courses.
4. Traditional courses cannot be _____ to a distance learning environment. They must be modified to take advantage of the visual and interactive capabilities of the delivery technologies—audio, video, Internet, WWW, and print.
5. Teaching at a distance with any of the delivery technologies will _____ traditional teaching skills.
6. There is no one _____ technology. Each technology offers a variety of learning opportunities. Type of learning, time, location, and learning resources will become a determining factor.
7. Very good quality distance learning courses are a _____ effort that require _____ services.
8. Very good quality distance learning courses require adequate advanced _____ time.
9. Emphasis is on _____ for distance learning, not hardware operation or software selection.
10. It is not what a student knows but rather what a student _____ with what is known that will make a difference.

